

Maintain visibility at all facilities with Hub Management

Many hubs and small third-party logistics partners lack the ability to send electronic information, even though they function very similarly to a small warehouse facility. Providing your partners with a tool that enables them to manage electronic receiving and shipping functions systematically allows you to maintain visibility into inventory across any point in your logistics network.

Manhattan's Hub Management leverages web-based technology to deliver more visibility into all your hub and 3PL activities. With it you can also maximize cross-dock and flow-through activities and ship directly to stores and customers.

The web-based technology provided by Manhattan Associates' Hub Management offers visibility into receipts and shipments from your hubs and 3PLs. At the same time, it enables trading partners to quickly and inexpensively create standardized ASNs and labels, and provide receiving, cross-docking and load-building services. With better connections and communication, hubs and 3PLs can then consolidate shipments directly to stores and customers, bypassing warehouses altogether.

Hub Management increases visibility, decreases costs and improves delivery times

Gain more cohesion throughout your supply chain with Hub Management. With hubs and third-party logistics companies more integrated in your network, you can:

- Ship direct-to-store and direct-to-customer from hubs and 3PLs, reducing transportation, labor and storage costs, as well as order fulfillment times
- Standardize labels and shipping documentation across your entire supply chain
- Increase visibility throughout your supply chain, regardless of platform or location
- Increase yard management accuracy, reducing order cycle time and stock-outs

When combined with Manhattan's Supply Chain Event Management, Hub Management provides global visibility across your supply chain. With the full benefit of collaboration with suppliers and hubs, you can maximize cross-dock and flow-through for direct-to-store delivery, reducing inventory and dramatically cutting transportation, storage and labor costs.

Supported by Manhattan's Supply Chain Process Platform, Hub Management helps you collaborate with suppliers across your entire supply chain.

Hub Management

Connect hubs and 3PLs to create a unified supply chain

Provide visibility into receipts and shipments at hubs

Standardize ASNs, shipping labels and other documentation across the supply chain

Enable hubs to provide receiving, cross-docking and load-building services

Facilitate direct-to-store or direct-to customer shipments from hubs

Improve yard management

Reduce transportation, labor and storage costs by streamlining shipping

Reduce inventory levels and order cycle time

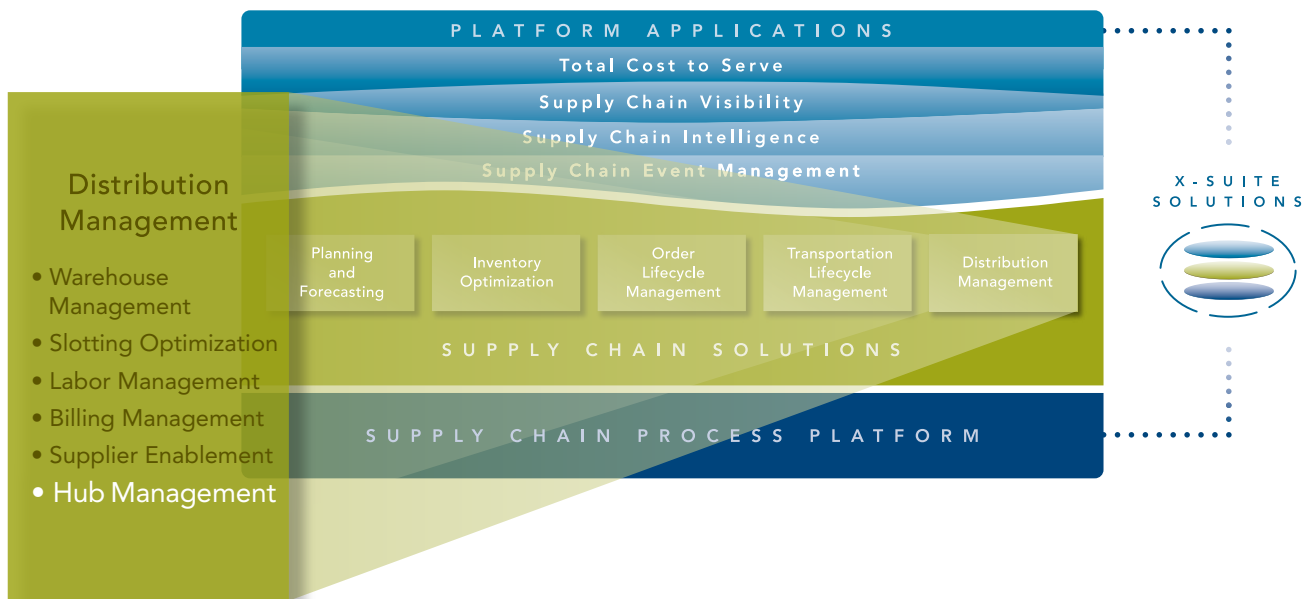

Redirect partial or full orders

Provide integration with Manhattan's Supplier Enablement to maximize cross-dock and flow-through, increase accountability and reduce transportation, storage and labor costs

Manhattan SCOPE® Distribution Management

Supply Chain Optimization...Planning through Execution

Hub Management is part of Manhattan Associates' Distribution Management suite of solutions—managing complexity to yield organized optimization.

The Manhattan Difference: Supply Chain People Thinking Differently About Supply Chain

We've earned recognition as The Supply Chain People® for a reason: We think differently about supply chain. Manhattan's 'think-tank' is unmatched in both staff resources and collaboration with the best minds in business, industry and academia. By applying the latest advances in supply chain know-how, our Platform Thinking™ approach is the optimal way to manage supply chain complexity and generate proven, real-world results for business. For two decades, this platform-based approach has helped companies worldwide achieve measurable efficiencies and return on investment. In fact, more than 1200 companies, representing many of the world's best-known brands, leverage Manhattan solutions to advance their supply chain leadership.

Manhattan Associates is committed to developing supply chain solutions that foster environmental stewardship.

Learn more about Manhattan Associates and our solutions:

North & South America + 1 877.596.9208 • Global + 44 (0)1344 318000 • www.manh.com

© 2011 Manhattan Associates, Inc. All rights reserved.

The Supply Chain People®